I apologize for my tardiness in addressing this issue. It appears that all of the emails associated with this ended up in the "spam" folder. I have since corrected this issue to forego any future problems.

I am actually glad that this issue has come up. A review of my calendar indicates that I'd originally put this on my calendar to occur on January 24, 2012 – for reasons I cannot explain. I am open on both 1/20/12 and 1/23/12 at this time. Please let me know which date works best for all involved. I will try to keep these dates open as long as possible.

Warm Regards,

Good Morning,

It has been brought to my attention that the date that was listed on the Scheduling Order for the conference call is January 21st, 2012, that date is a Saturday.

If there another date that you prefer to have the call on, please let me know, so that a new Order can be sent out with the new date.

Have a wonderful and safe holiday.

Thank you.
