Order Extending Alternative Dispute Resolution Process

The Alternative Dispute Resolution Process in this matter terminates by the terms of the Order on March 26, 2007. The parties have, however, reported that the ADR process has been productive and requested an extension in the ADR process of up to 60 days. It is my conclusion that there are reasonable prospects for settling this matter and that an extension in the ADR process of 35 days is adequate to determine if a settlement may be realized. The ADR process as extended expires on April 25, 2007.

Dated this 21st day of March 2007.

So Ordered.
