John,

Wow! a bit of a stretch on the 0.45 mg/L, actually seems to be a hybrid approach. It will take me a few days to address your questions and read all the information. But I am on it.

On another note, is there a reason that Region I EPA called me today for a "chat". I was in meetings so missed the call. Will talk to them today. Interesting.

In any case, you have given me much to digest. But that is what we live for.

Just keep movin forward

Best, Brian
