Supplemental Response to the Respondent's Response to Order to Show Cause

Respondent

Respondent's counsel after a long and arduous conference with the Respondent, has an Agreement that the Respondent's office manager has the authority to work with this office to conclude this matter.

Counsel has completed an office conference with the office manager and she does have enough knowledge about the present pending matter to provide the pre conference material required by the court.

As in any litigation and as part of the negotiating process, one hesitates to disclose any matter that might cause a disadvantage for the client.

This matter is to the point that I would request that every consideration be given to this Respondent in the process of completing a consent decree to promptly conclude this matter.

The Respondent, Cindy Draher, does not have the emotional, mental, or physical ability, or stamina, or comprehension to deal with this matter.

If allowed, the undersigned counsel can proceed with the commitments made to counsel for the U.S. EPA between this office and now the office manager. The Complaint will be settled which with the adoption and approval by the court's review, the goals by all parties can be achieved.

I have discussed the court requirements relative to the statement and if an extension is not possible, the Respondent's office manager has the authority to assist me with the information required to file a pre-hearing exchange.

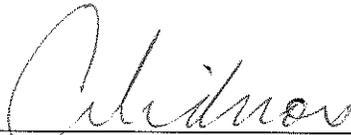

The Respondent is a good person and has never understood what was expected even after numerous communications.

After this matter is over, and with the help of Respondent's retired husband, we intend to place the management with a responsible, knowledgeable person.

Counsel respectfully requests the court to permit a 30-day extension within that time, I am confident we can provide a consent decree that would meet the court's approval.

Respectfully submitted,
