

Question: The technical requirements of Section 264.226 (c) state that a "qualified" engineer must provide certain certifications. Does this mean a registered professional engineer?

Answer: No, this section was specifically worded to broaden the range of engineers beyond the professional engineer to include others whose training or background would qualify them.

Source: Fred Lindsey, Ken Shuster

Research: Denise Wright