

QUESTION: To meet the bond rating for the financial test, which bonds are considered capital or pollution control bonds? If the last bond was issued two years ago, which rating is used - the one at issuance or the current one?

ANSWER: The bond most recently issued by the owner or operator is used to see if the company meets the bond ratings of Moody's or Standard and Poor's. The current rating of the bond is used.

SOURCE: Emily Sano

RESEARCH: Irene Horner