FINDING OF VIOLATION

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) finds that Southern Recycling, LLC (Southern) is violating the Clean Air Act, 42 U.S.C. § 7401 et seq. (CAA). Specifically, Southern is failing to reduce emissions of ozone-depleting substances as required by 40 C.F.R. Part 82, Subpart F.

Statutory and Regulatory Authority

1. Section 302(e) of the CAA, 42 U.S.C. § 7602(e), defines the term “person” to include an individual, corporation, partnership, and association and any officer, agent, or employee thereof.
2. Section 608 of the CAA, 42 U.S.C. § 7671g, among other things, requires EPA to promulgate regulations that establish standards and requirements regarding the use and disposal of class I and class II refrigerants.
3. Pursuant to Section 608 of the CAA, EPA promulgated regulations at 40 C.F.R. Part 82, Protection of Stratospheric Ozone.
4. “Small appliance” is defined as “any appliance that is fully manufactured, charged, and hermetically sealed in a factory with five (5) pounds or less of a class I or class II substance used as a refrigerant, including, but not limited to, refrigerators and freezers (designed for home, commercial, or consumer use), medical or industrial research refrigeration equipment, room air conditioners (including window air conditioners and packaged terminal air heat pumps), dehumidifiers, under-the-counter ice makers, vending machines, and drinking water coolers.” 40 C.F.R. § 82.152.
5. “Motor vehicle air conditioner (MVAC)” is defined as “any appliance that is a motor vehicle air conditioner as defined in 40 C.F.R. Part 82, Subpart B.” 40 C.F.R. § 82.152.

6. The regulations at 40 C.F.R. Part 82, Subpart F, Recycling and Emissions Reduction, apply to, among others, persons disposing of appliances, including small appliances and MVACs. 40 C.F.R. § 82.150(b).
7. The purpose of the regulations, in part, is to reduce emissions of class I and class II refrigerants and their substitutes to the lowest achievable level during the service, maintenance, repair, and disposal of appliances. 40 C.F.R. § 82.150(a).
8. The Subpart F regulations provide that “disposal” means “the process leading to and including: (1) the discharge, deposit, dumping or placing of any discarded appliance into or on any land or water; (2) the disassembly of any appliance for discharge, deposit, dumping or placing of its discarded component parts into or on any land or water; or (3) the disassembly of any appliance for reuse of its component parts.” 40 C.F.R. § 82.152.
9. The regulations at 40 C.F.R. § 82.156(f), require persons (including scrap recyclers and landfill operators) who take the final step in the disposal process of a small appliance, room air conditioning unit, motor vehicle air conditioner (MVAC), or MVAC-like appliance are required to either:
 - a. Recover any remaining refrigerant from the appliance in accordance with specific procedures described in 40 C.F.R. § 82.156(g) or (h); or
 - b. Verify in accordance with specific procedures, as set forth in the regulations at 40 C.F.R. § 82.156(f)(2) and (3), that the refrigerant has been evacuated from the appliance or shipment of appliances. A compliant verification may be a signed statement from the person from whom the appliance or shipment of appliances is obtained that all refrigerant that had not leaked previously has been recovered from the appliances or shipment of appliances. This statement must include the name and address of the person who recovered the refrigerant and the date the refrigerant was recovered or a contract that refrigerant will be removed prior to delivery. 40 C.F.R. § 82.156(f)(2). Any signed statements must be maintained on-site for a minimum of three years. 40 C.F.R. §§ 82.166(i) and (m).

Finding of Fact

10. Southern owns and/or operates a scrap recycling facility at 1840 Linder Industrial Drive, Nashville, Tennessee.
11. For all times pertinent to this Finding of Violation, Southern is a “person” as defined by the CAA.
12. At all times pertinent to this Finding of Violation, Southern is a person that took the final step in the disposal process of a small appliance, room air conditioning unit, MVAC, or MVAC-like appliance.

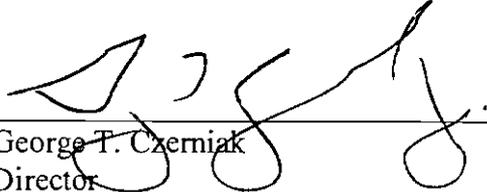

13. On May 5, 2014, EPA inspected the facility to assess Southern's compliance with regulations governing the handling of refrigerant under the CAA.
14. During the May 5, 2014, inspection, EPA observed:
 - a. several small appliances, including refrigerators, in the ferrous pile;
 - b. a sign next to Southern's scale, just outside the warehouse, stating that CFCs will not be accepted at the facility; and
 - c. large stockpiles of condensers and air conditioning components outside Southern's warehouse.
15. During the May 5, 2014, inspection, a Southern representative stated that Southern accepts appliance components, vehicles, motor vehicle air conditioners (MVACs), and white goods, including small appliances and room air conditioning units.
16. During the May 5, 2014, inspection, a Southern representative stated that Southern does not recovery refrigerant but does use signed statements for customers to verify that refrigerant has been removed from all materials being sold.
17. The signed statement presented by Southern during the May 5, 2014, inspection did not document the name and address of the person who properly recovered refrigerant, the date the refrigerant was properly recovered or the date the room air conditioning units, small appliances or MVACs were sold.

Finding of Violations

18. Southern's failure to either recover refrigerant from room air conditioning units, small appliances, or MVACs as described above, or to verify via a signed and properly documented statement that refrigerant had been properly recovered, violates 40 C.F.R § 82.156(f) and therefore violates section 608 of the CAA.
