

Resolution from October 2007

The current air pollution indicator for oxides of nitrogen is NO_x is an inadequate measure of reactive nitrogen in the atmospheric environment. The SAB's Integrated Nitrogen Committee recommends that inorganic reduced nitrogen (ammonia plus ammonium) and total oxidized nitrogen (NO_y), be monitored as indicators of total chemically reactive nitrogen.