a few concerns plus to let you know where I stand, I like the overhaul of the EPA is an agency that is out of control as far as imposing expensive (especially to the middle class) rules: the SAB has no role in reviewing rule rollbacks (like those of the CPP, WOTUS, and glider trucks) that are legal/policy-based (vs. standard review of scientific reports/assessments), and that I want science transparency ASAP — not in another year or so when the SAB gets around to finishing a review of what should already be happening at EPA.
